During the November 21, 1977 meeting in Buenos Aires between His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Argentina, other officials of the Argentine Government, and the Secretary of State of the United States, Mr. Vance mentioned that a coalition of church, civil, and humanitarian organizations in the United States concerned with the subject of human rights had prepared a list of persons reported to be detained or missing in Argentina. That list was forwarded to the Foreign Office on November 23, 1977.

The Department of State has received a new updated version of this list. The United States Government has no means of verifying the information, but wishes to make the list available to the Government of Argentina for its use.

The United States Embassy to Argentina is able, therefore, to transmit the updated list to the Government of Argentina.
